

“ON THE JOB TRAINING” PUTS YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES AT RISK

Professional security training is essential in preparing for tomorrow's security challenges

Security specialists must be accurate, consistent and efficient. However, most new security specialists are required to learn on the job. While hands-on experience is valuable, ignoring professional training comes with many risks. Misinformation, out-dated techniques, and the use of incorrect tools put your security responsibilities at risk.

Lockmasters Security Institute is the industry leader in innovative physical security education. Our courses cover a wide variety of applications including Law enforcement, Government, Military, Corporate and commercial realities. We give you access to the information, tools and hands-on training for a competent and confident workforce.

Your goals are ours. In your long list of responsibilities, one oversight is one too many. We understand your level of accountability and the pressure you face every day. We have worked within every leading industry over our 50 year history to mitigate risk and increase security.

At Lockmasters Security Institute, we are committed to:

- Hands-on training using custom built labs and real-life scenarios that develop required knowledge, skills and abilities
- Innovation in research and development as well as the development of security training best practices
- Career advancement of each student through college accredited, government certified training and online education

Visit LSIeducation.com and review our courses. Call Tom Ingram at 866-574-8724 ext. 212 to discuss which courses or career track may be best for you or your direct reports.